I will let you know if she has indeed lodged a NID

The reference to slippers etc relates to an old story about Ross Harper which I am sure you will remember

I do not know why you are writing to me as I have no knowledge of you or your court case. Please desist. If you have defences to lodge in an action in which we act for the pursuer, then you are obliged to intimate these to us at the appropriate office.

fao Grant McCulloch
Re Laura Walker and the interim interdict court ref no A2041 O2s

I note the expiry period for the lodging of defences here is 20th may.

As you know I have been busy with exams. I intend lodging defences to this either tomorrow or Monday 20th and you may pick up the copy from the sheriff clerk. I shall not be going to the trouble of copying your firm a copy. I am not affording you that courtesy since your client Walker got her MP husband to make life difficult for me with office facilities. That is why you are not being afforded that courtesy.

I would also watch what you say to Walker because a lot of it has ended up in a PCC file that I received yesterday in connection with my complaint to the PCC about the Sunday Mail.

Whether you said what they allege you said I do not know. One never knows when Walker is involved She tells so many lies.

One thing is for sure when my exams are over I am copying all details of this to every trade union in the country and other interested parties.

Tell me were you the one who got caught with the prostitutes and the slippers in the caledonian hotel or was that someone else....just out of interest since everyone is having a good old giggle at walker and your firm just for a change.

Acknowledge receipt

Dear Laura,

You .v. Fiona Harvey
Glasgow Sheriff Court Action

I have checked with the court and they are reluctant to grant a permanent Interdict unless there is evidence of breach of Interdict. I will therefore keep the action alive and we have 1 year and a day from the granting of the Interim Interdict to provide evidence of breach of Interdict to allow us to Minute for Decree.

If she misbehaves herself in the next year we would put this evidence in front of the court and obtain a permanent Interdict. If she misbehaves herself after the year the present action will fall but we can raise another Interim Interdict pretty easily.

In the circumstances of the case I intend not to charge a fee.

Kind Regards,

Yours sincerely

David Wilson
